

“Darwin, the Methods of Science, and the Methods of Literature”

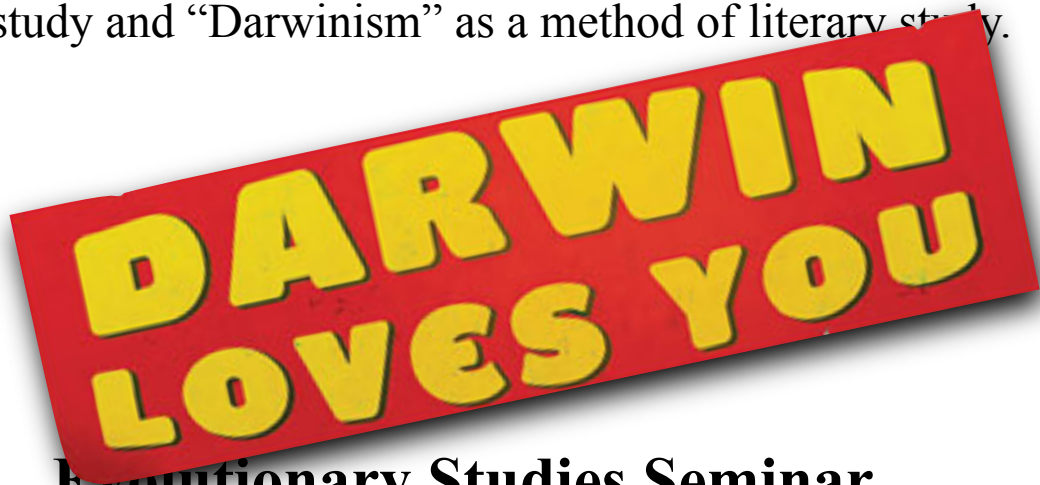

George Levine

Professor Emeritus, Department of English
Rutgers University

Distinguished Scholar in Residence
New York University

The seminar will focus on the development of Darwin’s ways of questioning nature, particularly on the pre-evolution Beagle Voyage, and attempt to distinguish between Darwin as subject of literary study and “Darwinism” as a method of literary study.

Evolutionary Studies Seminar
Friday, April 24 at 4:00 PM
Lecture Hall 8

Seminar followed by refreshments and continued discussion.
<http://evolution.binghamton.edu/evos/Seminar/Levine.html>